SCOTS OBSERVE BURNS BIRTHDAY

The annual Burns Festival held by St. Andrews Society in the Fox theater on Tuesday evening was undoubtedly the best yet put on by the society, and drew a full house.

Chairman J. R. Watt opened the program promptly at 8:30 with a short address, extolling the greatness of the Scottish poet.

This was followed by a bagpipe selection by Piper Durham.

Mrs. J. M. Paterson sang "The Highland Laddie" and "Auld Scotch Songs" and received well merited applause.

J. R. Evans, Clareholm's chirpy Lander, sang two comic songs, "Safest of the Family" and "Ardent Girls Are Gid Enough For Me". As these songs were popular with the audience, he received a double encore.

A dialogue in Scotch dialect, "Mrs. Munro Practices Economy" was given by Mrs. J. L. Cotter and Mrs. G. Nelson which was roundly applauded.

A. Laurie sang "There Was a Lad" and "Wet Water" and was deservedly encored.

Miss Jessie Fogo gave a recitation, "Fairies' Castle Dream". She was called back for another number.

Mrs. G. Nelson sang "Last May a Brae Woon" and "We Banks and Bras" and received a hearty encore.

Mrs. Jean Gould, of Calgary, Alberta's most noted Scottish dancer, and holder of championships, gave two dance numbers, and was repeatedly called back, one of her encores being the popular sailor dance. Miss Gould was also down for a comic song and was also heartily encored on this.

The comedy sketch entitled "The Pie in the Oven" was replete with mirth provoking situations. The cast included J. Watt as John McNaughton, S. Flora their daughter, Miss Jessie Fogo, Peter Duff, the village constable, A. Laurie. The setting of the play is the kitchen of a modest farm house. The plot describes the troubles of a bashful backward lover, who finds great difficulty in bringing himself to ask the consent of an irascible, quick tempered father for the hand of his daughter, and the miseries entailed by a wily mother to his love matters to a successful conclusion.

All interpreted their parts well. Mr. Laurie, as the bashful lover, was irresistibly funny, and the other actors did their share of acting well. Mrs. Paterson portrayed the part of the irascible father. Mrs. Paterson and Miss Fogo also took their parts well.

Singing at the National program included the theater program to a close.

All who felt an inclination to dance then repaired to the Odd Fellows' hall where the large crowd proceeded to enjoy to the full the program of dances provided, ending with a grand march led by Piper Durham.

As is customary at Burns night dances, the program included a liberal number of the old time dances, such as the cotillion, the reel, the hornpipe, "The Clodhoppers of Edinburgh" and "Haymakers" quadrilles, reels, and Highland Schottische.

About 12:30 supper was served. The committee in charge had arranged things well in hand and the Synge brought the 1927 Burns

MUNICIPALITIES TO MAKE GRANT TO HOSPITAL

A hospital meeting was held in the council chambers, Clareholm, on January 20th, at which the following representatives of Municipal Districts of the County of Minto and Districts of Clear Lake and the Town of Clareholm were present:

Argyle—Councillor Sherman(Reeve), Lewis, Marsh, Reynolds, Clear Lake—Councillors Carey, Foster, Spencer, Towns, Town, Birrell, and Councillors Kinney and Maxwell.

Mrs. Taylor of the Clareholm hospital having served notice that she intended to close the hospital at the end of February, on account of financial difficulties, being unable to collect money of the meeting was called by Mayor Ringer and responded to by the above.

A tentative plan was arranged to be met by the council of the above municipalities as follows:

Argyle to make a grant to the hospital of $600.00.

Clear Lake to make a grant to the hospital of $600.00.

The Town of Clareholm to provide free taxes, light and water and to provide a business manager and secretary to the hospital.

Geo. Maxwell was appointed manager and C. J. Annand secretary.

A temporary hospital committee was formed with the following members: O. L. Reinecke, Delbert Reynolds, and Stanley Carey.

Clareholm Juveniles beat Stavely to the tune of 3-2 on Saturday last. The game was a very poor exhibition of hockey as it can be played by our local boys. The Stavely team was excellent. We hope that the boys will take a lesson from the exhibition put on by the Seniors Monday night, so far as combined work was concerned, otherwise they might find themselves tail-enders in the second division of their league.

Stavely Hockey boys defeated the Clareholm seniors 3-2 in Stavely last Friday afternoon, in a game which went ten minutes overtime to break the tie. Mark Jenkins and Bobby Powers, the two bad men, each got five minutes on the fence for staging an illegal check behind the goal.

The local boys have no all star to offer, but simply couldn't get going. Harry Pendleton was the best man on the ice, with Alex Allan of Stavely a close second. Allan showed a decided change of temper, and his goal scoring was greatly improved as a result.

International Ignorance

Ignorance and indecision among the nations cause more trouble than the machinations of political leaders, who are blamed for so many of the world'sills. Democratic government, says a Japanese former minister of education, has been responsible for the lack of international co-operation in any country are overshadowed by the weight of politics, party strife, and the unreasoning fear and ignorance of the masses. He accredits the present misdeeds of the world. In nine cases out of ten, international ignorance and stupidity, and the same cause be asognis as the chief reason for the strained relations which have existed in recent years between the United States and Japan.

This Japanese statesman holds that the greatest need to the development of a better understanding between these two countries is more publicity, the printing by the papers of both countries of more news—more sympathetic news—of happenings in the other country, and a sympathetic interpretation of its policies. He believes that each country should do its best to be as much as possible aid in bringing about a consummation of this campaign of education against the most and always present danger of national ignorance.

Undoubtedly one of the reasons for the difference between the United States and Canada is that we understand each other—united by bonds of blood by a common language, free from religious differences, and personal ties. We have similar interests, communicate by mail, telegraph, telephone, radio, automobile and train. While maintaining separate nationalities and quite different national ideals, and yet in thought of political union, there nevertheless exists the closest tie of intimacy and understanding so that the mere thought of war is abhorrent and repulsive.

The secret is that we understand each other, and that understanding is the outcome of knowledge of each other. Each country is able to see the other's viewpoint. Instead of this knowledge, the two great groups of people dividing the North American continent between them were steeped in ignorance of each other, there would be constant friction.

One of the most strenuous periods in the British Empire is the knowledge which each commanding officer has of the other parts. Stationers have always recognized the importance of the rapid and continuous dissemination of information throughout the Empire and every encyclopaedia has given in the portion of inter Empire means of communication by cable, steamship, air-mail, post-office, post-plane, etc. In these last years to the development of aerial communication. Not the least of the advantages of the periodical Imperial Conference is the discussion and understanding of Empire problems which result and from which understanding comes.

So, too, in the annual gatherings of the League of Nations' Assemblies, and the frequent meetings of the Council of Nations, the Imperial Conference, the League of Nations, the World Health Organization, etc., there is being born mutual understanding and statecraft ignorance and prejudices. Only recently one of the outstanding figures in the public life of Germany of today declared that had there existed the same machinery for consultation between the nations, prior to 1914 it is now provided by the League of Nations, that world peace would have been found.

The need of the whole world is knowledge. Knowledge is greater international knowledge. Fortunately, the trend of modern inventions is to facilitate the dissemination of such knowledge and to promote world travel and international intercourse.

Departing for a moment from the internal aspect of this fundamental question of knowledge, certain landmarks may be mentioned which mark the progress of the world in this direction. An excellent example of one national position today is to be found in a lack of complete understanding between the different parts of the Dominion, in the fact that Maritime Province conditions are not fully understood and appreciated in Ontario and the West as they ought to be, and because in Ontario and down by the Athabasca oilfield it is difficult for them to climb and grasp our Western provinces.

In the development of that much to be desired knowledge of each other, every possible agency should be employed, through the press, by means of national conventions, encouragement of tourist traffic within the Dominion, in which great roads are being developed, and by means of educational representations by knowledge will do much to assist us also to escape a strong and united Confederation, just as equally as it will release us of international misunderstandings and friction which lead to war.

To Encourage Fur Farming

Mars Lands in Saskatchewan Now Available For This Purpose
 Novelties leave the Saskatchewan and Manitoba governments regarding the leasing of marsh lands for the farming purposes have now been completed and arrangements are being made with which the provincial authorities will bring out the marsh lands for the farming purposes. Hon. C. M. Hamilton, minister of agriculture, has announced.

Lands areas of marsh lands exempted from taxation available for farming in the northern part of the province, but the area of such land in the south is relatively small, the water courses being more or less isolated and inaccessible having been carried on extensively.

ANSWERS TO LAST WEEK'S QUESTIONS

8. What is a Vacuum?

Any air-tight container, or space, as the interior of a closed vessel, from which the air is exhausted to a high degree by an air pump or other artificial means. The most nearly complete vacuum is found in the electric light bulb and the radio vacuum tube.

9. How to Tell Water Without Heating It?

The boiling point of water varies with the air pressure. At sea level, where the pressure is about 15 pounds a square inch, water boils at 212 degrees; on a high mountain, where the pressure is less, it boils at one degree less temperature. In a vacuum (with little or no pressure) it boils at about 50 degrees. This effect of diminished pressure is used in sugar boiling, preparing extracts, flavoring vegetable oils, and other processes where the solutes are likely to be injured by high temperature.

10. How is Condensed Milk Made?

Milk is seven-eighths water. It is condensed by being heated over a fire until all the water has been driven off in a vacuum pan, a kind of large, closed metal retort. A natural vacuum formed in it, allows the evaporation to take place at a lower temperature. This obviates the danger of burning and hastens the process.

11. What is a Barometer?

Barometer. Baro=weight; metron=measure. An instrument ascertaining the weight, or pressure, of the atmosphere. Usually, a glass tube similar in shape to the letter "U", about 32 inches high, one end closed. It is partly filled with quicksilver, and air is excluded from the closed end by pumping air out of the tube.

Usually, the weight of the column of quicksilver equals the weight of the air pushing down on the open end. Quicksilver is about 3½ times heavier than water. If water were used in the tube, it would require a column 33 feet high to balance the air pressure.

12. How Does Weather Forecast the Weather?

Weather changes are preceded by variations in the air pressure indicated by a rise or fall of the mercury in the barometer. Weather forecasts are fairly accurate 24 or 36 hours ahead. Unusual atmospheric conditions frequently develop, often at greatly separated points, which make great and sudden changes in the weather—a hurricane or norther may develop in a few hours. On the other hand, for instance, it is important that the pilot knows the kind of weather he is likely to encounter ahead. To lessen the possibility of accidents the government is planning to make frequent observations of the air pressure in the usual manner and of the upper air by means of "pilot" balloons; and to keep the pilots fully informed as to the safest altitudes at which to fly, or to avoid dangerous storms by either landing, detouring or turning back.

13. What Does the Barometer Show?

As the rise and fall of the barometer according to elevation varies with undeviating certainty, the barometer is an important instrument for measuring the height of mountains, the relative altitude of places above the sea level, and for determining the height reached by balloons and airplanes. The common suction pump is an application of the principle on a large scale. The vacuum is created by the action of the valve attached to the pump handle; the downward pressure of the air on the water in the well forces the column of water upward in the pump about three feet.

14. How Does the Air Hold Up Planes? (How Air Airlines?)

The force required to drive the airplane forward and to sustain its weight against gravity comes through the propeller, which operates somewhat like the screw propeller of a ship. The propeller gives great force, and the reaction of the air gives the propelling thrust or push. To sustain its weight the plane must be constantly driven forward upon a path slightly higher. The rapid forward motion and the upward tilt of the wings deflects a large mass of air violently downward, and the inertia and elasticity of the disturbed air gives the required upward reaction.
